

Metropolitan Magazine's 99 People to Watch

Kevin Avery

Comedian

Avery's high-energy physical comedy got him as far as the semifinals in the 1998 San Francisco Comedy Competition. With just two years of stand-up experience, Avery's hilarious riffs on his intermittent sex life, racism and even country music keep the kids coming back for more at the Punchline and Cobbs. Watch for him in Obstacles, his first indie film role, and keep an eye on the networks. (DM)
